Mendy for Richmond Day.

Midway was, of course, thronged adday and night with curious and wondering thousands. No matter how exaggrated might be the reports of the numerous barkers and the impossible monstrosities which they said they had concealed behind them, the crowd was credulous, and minded not a bit forking out the necessary dime. A fair without a Midway would be a small show. This fair is built on a tremerdous scale, and that speaks as well for the attractions of Folly Avenue as for the fair itself. With few and farscattered exceptions, the shows are all decent. One faker who was debarred from business Monday because his show was immodest, tried to put on another, which was hardly less decent, but he was quickly forced to desist. The police and the management will stand for nothing that is the less.

The police and the management will stand for nothing that is the least discreditable. Great preparations have been made discreditable.

Great preparations have been made for to-day, which is Richmond Day, and one of the biggest days of the week. Mayor Richardson has issued a proclamation declaring it to be a public holiday, and ordering all the city offices except those that are absolutely necessary for the conduct of public business to be closed. He also suggested that the merchants and business men in general close their places and allow themselves and their employes to take in the fair and its numerous object lessons. It is probable that his request will be heeded, and to-day should be a record-breaker in point of attendance. The other days of the week will be featured, and the show, which is already assured of success, will be far more successful than was hoped for by the fondest imagination.

Detroit's batting alone would have captured the contest with ease, but assurance was made doubly sure by Chicago's errors, five in number. Detroit's commanding lead at the outset did not dishearten Chicago, but it had a depressing effect, which deepened as the game proceeded and Donovan's superb control showed no sign of weakening.

Throughout the city excited children and adults, who had breathlessly watched the score boards this afternoon, surrendered themselves to celebration of the baseball victory. Unguarded packing boxes blazed up in every direction, while good-natured police and firemen were kept busy checking bonfires. WASHINGTON, D. C., October 6,—
The political situation at large, and particularly the prospects for the State and national tickets in New York, was carefully gone ower at a prolonged conference at the White House to-night. Those who talked with the President were William L. Ward, the New York member of the Republican committee; Secretary Root, Secretary Cortelyou, Postmaster-General Meyer, Secretary Loeb and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon. The conference began about 10 o'clock and lasted until midnight. Secretary Loeb told the newspaper men that no statement would be given out relative to the conference. One of those who took part, however, said that a review of conditions showed that the general situation was very encouraging to the Republicans, and that especially good reports were coming in as to the chances of the New York State ticket to win. The campaign for Judge Taft had thrown off the last vestige of lethargy, he said, and was being pushed with all the swing and vigor of previous national contests. Incidentally the question of campaign finances came up as a result of the visit of Treasurer Sheldon to the White House during the afternoon.

At the hearing in the case she said that she had been informed that Poulson was acting as a spy for Captain Erb, who stood by the coachman at the hearing, as against his wife. He subsequently explained that he did so because he expected to institute proceedings against Mrs. Erb, and expected Poulson to be an important witness in the case, in which Mrs. Catherine Belsel, Mrs. Erb's sister, was to be involved.

Captain Erb declared at the hearing that he had been duped when he married Mrs. Rothermel, and that her conduct during his absence at White Plains last summer had been improper. Several weeks later Mrs. Erb caused the arrest of her husband on a charge of assault and battery, and he was held for trial. clares Peace of Europe Will Previously to going to the hall he was serenaded at the hotel, and he addressed an immense through from the balcony. The keynote of his remarks here to-night was that Republican policies meant disaster, while Democratic policier meant prosperity.

On this subject he said:

Democratic Prosperity.

The Democratic party is absolutely necessary to restore prosperity. The Republican party has had its chance, and it has failed. We are now in the midst of a depression for which natural conditions furnish ne excuse. Artificial conditions are responsible for the present business prostration, and those artificial conditions originated in Republican policies.

The business failures for the nine the present business prostration, and those artificial conditions originated in Republican policies.

The business failures for the nine months ended on September 20th were 11,943 in number and the liabilities amount to $179,000,000. It means that if the assets are worth, in fact, the amount at which they are placed, there will still be a loss of $58,000,000 to account for.

"This tremendous loss comes at a time when crops are reasonably good and when Nature has not withheld her bounty. It comes when the Republicans are in complete control. They have a President whom they eulogize in their platform, a Senate completely in the hands of the Republican party, and a Republican House dominated by a despott Speaker. We can assume, therefore, that they have done everything they could do consistently under their policies to prevent a panic, and yet the panic is here. It comes, too, when we have a tariff so high that even the Republicans promise unequity ocally to revise it immediately, and Mr. Taft has ventured the opinion that the revision will probably be downward.
